

Business Analyst

Are you currently finishing your Bachelors-degree/in the beginning of your Masters-degree and looking to kick-start your career with an exciting job characterized by a high degree of autonomy and responsibility?

Are you ready to test your exceptionally high academic grades and ambitions in real life of a consultant, with a possibility to create significant bottom-line results for leading private and public companies across a myriad of industries?

If positive, you have a unique possibility to apply for a position as Business Analyst and become a part of our dynamic organization.

We expect you to be:

- Interested in Procurement/Supply Chain, preferably with an academic track-record within this field
- A highly-qualified person currently studying Bachelors-degree/ or about to start your Masters-degree and have received above average grades
- An analytically strong number-cruncher profile with solid problem solving skills
- Independent, action-oriented and with a strong personal drive
- Flexible and willing to adapt to a changing environment characteristic to an entrepreneurial company
- Advanced user of Excel and PowerPoint
- Fluent in German and English – both written and oral

We can offer:

- An exciting and versatile job with a high degree of independency and ability to influence your job assignments
- A part-time student job, with the possibility to experience the work of a consultant
- A young and dynamic organization, where we work as a team and provide you with opportunities to develop your skills and capabilities through constant training, feedback, and coaching

The position is a part-time, student-help position, only applicable to students currently on their Bachelor/Master degree, based at our Düsseldorf office To apply, please send us a motivational letter incl. CV and grade-transcript to recruiting@prokura.dk

Founded in 2008, Prokura is an entrepreneurial consulting company specializing in procurement and supply chain. Led by highly-experienced specialists from McKinsey & Company and Boston Consulting Group, Prokura has already become a key player in the market, creating significant savings for leading private and public organizations in Nordic countries.

Prokura's expertise combines deep functional skills and product, process, and service-industry experience to help clients build competitive and differentiating purchasing and supply chain capabilities that deliver value and allow companies to operate profitably and invest in the future.

Client engagements range from procurement and operations diagnostics to business unit strategy, along with procurement optimization tracks, implementation support, and continuous improvement. Prokura's sourcing and supply chain professionals bring an explicit analytical understanding of strategic, tactical, and operational decisions and their impact to bottom-line performance.